Of Local Interest.

How would you like to be the coal man?

The goods box loafer will be slow to get out this year, according to weather predictions.

Some prominent weather prophet says winter will last three months longer. Kill him!

Judge Saufley has announced his candidacy for the appellate bench, to succeed Judge Burnam.

Several people have had their cisterns thoroughly cleaned, then filled from the fire hydrants.

It is about time of year for the peach crop to be reported as killed. Every year you hear it about this time.

Capt Ben J C Milam, who made the famous Kentucky "Meek and Milam" fishing reel, died last week at his home in Frankfort. These reels were used all over the country, and were the best made.

Eggs in New York City city now retail at 75 cents a dozen, as a result of the extreme cold weather, which has prevailed in the East, and from the fact commission men have cornered the supply.

Bad Fall for Soap.
While climbing a pole, Mr. Burt Soaper, the accommodating manager of the electric light plant, lost his hold and fell to the ground, badly spraining his back, wrenching his arm and wrist. He is up and about, and we trust will soon be able to resume work.

Pleasant Evening.
The Christian Endeavor Society entertained a large number of friends at the Christian church Saturday night in a most pleasing manner. Refreshments were served, and a delightful evening spent. This organization is accomplishing a world of good among the young people of the town.

Citizens' Banquet.
For the purpose of promoting fellowship and good cheer a number of gentlemen have decided to undertake a citizens' banquet on next Monday evening. Enough money has been subscribed to assure success but final details have not been arranged. Tickets will be on sale at one of the drug stores after Thursday of this week.

Died in Texas.
C M Burgess, who married Miss Lizzie Tomlinson, of Buena Vista, this county, died at Comfort, Texas, last week. Mr Burgess lived at Middlesboro for some time, but his health failed and he went West hoping to recuperate. He was originally from Moberly, Ind. He leaves a wife and one child, who have the sympathy of many Garrard county friends.

Good Citizen Leaves.
It is with much regret we note the departure of Mr R G Ward and family who go to reside in Cincinnati. Mr Ward has been in business in Lancaster for a number of years, and the town never had a better citizen. A perfect gentleman, a devout christian and one of the most accommodating of gentlemen, his loss will be keenly felt. Especially in musical circles will be missed, as his sweet tenor voice will be hard to substitute. He has not yet decided on a business engagement, but has several good things in view.

The Mayor and the Bible.
Saturday night, the Christian Endeavor society held a social at the Christian church, and among the several interesting features were different things to represent the books of the Bible, a bundle of timothy hay for the book of Timothy, a large axe, the Acts, etc. Mayor R Kinneard studied faithfully, but "fell down" on all until he came to a long, black mark on a piece of paper, representing Mark, of course. The clever Mayor's face lighted up and he exclaimed, "Oh I see this one. Dog gone my cats if that isn't the book of 'Aaron's Rod.'"

Horses in Demand.
The outlook for the horse industry was never before more promising. With the progress of national development has materialized increased demand for horses. So pronounced has been the enlarged use of horses for the past five years that domestic consumption has nearly exhausted the supply. The surplus is so light that prices have remained nominally stationary, while other classes of live stock have declined in value materially. All the modern industrial developments of civilized nations were made possible by the use of horses, and the future demand promises to be of increased proportions. Horses for general utility use are indispensable and as nations advance in wealth and affluence the demand for horses is intensified. There are no substitutes to eliminate the noble equine in his sphere of usefulness in the progress of mankind. The equine fashion of the twentieth century will be repeated in the succeeding cycle and the future of the industry is brilliant with encouraging promise. The breeder who raises good horses of any commercial class is assured of a stable and remunerative market for his surplus and has every encouragement to intelligently exploit the industry.—Drovers' Journal

And Got Home With $1.375.

Conthianna Democrat: Editor Louis Landram left for Washington Friday with a round trip pass and $4.30 in cash. After a thorough inspection of the national government he expects to return and explain the "innards" of the affair. Should he not show up in thirty days the Kentucky Press Association will organize a relief expedition.

Worthy Cause.

Rev W F Rogers, representing the Kentucky Home Association, made a splendid talk at the Christian church Sunday night. He solicited subscriptions to the institution, and did fairly well in this city. This institution is for the purpose of rescuing children from disreputable and insufficient homes, and find them homes in good families. There are many features which we haven't space to discuss, but will say that a dollar given to the cause will be used to a good advantage and all who can should contribute.

W. H. Harris' Minstrels.

W H Harris' minstrels will appear at the court house Friday night, the 5th of February. The proceeds are to go toward erecting a new school house, in place of one destroyed by fire. Capt Harris has secured some professional men who will assist the local talent and a good show is promised. A special portion of the court house will be set apart for white people, and those who attend will get their money's worth. If you want to see a good show, and at the same time help a good cause, go.

Notes From Frankfort.

Ed Record: It was my good fortune to be in Frankfort last week and witness the doings of Legislature, which, in some respect, is one of the most important sessions that has been held for many years. The members are over the average, both in appearance and intelligence, and it will be gratifying to your readers to learn that our Senator, Hon G T Farris, and our representative, Hon S D Cochran, have contributed their part in raising the general average of that august body. They have rendered material aid, both on the floor and in the committee room, in bringing about the splendid legislation which has already been completed. They are hard workers and always advocate that which is for the good of their constituents and the public generally. They are held in the highest esteem by other members whose expressions of appreciation evince the fact that they are a good advertisement both for our county and the democratic party, to which they adhere with a fidelity which is praiseworthy.

The passage of the World's Fair and the Capital appropriation bills, the extension of the sessions of Common Schools, and the passage of the school book bill, will be so many monuments to the memory of that body. They carry with them the spirit of enterprise and the principles of democracy. The principle of local self-government incorporated in the school book bill, by the appointment of county boards, was in keeping with the views advocated by Senator Farris for several years as against the doctrine of a state board alone, which favors centralization of power and is therefore undemocratic.

Senator Farris has been the author of several important bills, among them the local option bill, which was defeated in the Senate by three votes, although it is claimed that it would have passed the House by a good majority. The bill was in line with the temperance cause, and sought the protection of the people, in precincts that oppose the sale of liquor, against adjoining precincts that are controlled by a negro vote in favor of license. The bill favored the majority in the county ruling, instead of one precinct. His speech, in favor of the bill, was eloquent and logical, but the gigantic whisky trusts, with its enticing cup and its glittering gold, exerts a wonderful influence. The good people will finally demand the enactment of such law.

Cheer Up.

Don't bottle up your joy
Where it will do no good.
Pull the cork and let 'er fizz,
While you are saving wood.

Bro. Tindor's Meetings.

Somerset Republican:—Meetings at the Christian church are continuing with great interest. The house is crowded every evening by 7 o'clock, and we presume no one ever saw more attention given to a speaker, or better order. The sermons are full of plain unadulterated Gospel, every word and thought coming fresh and clean from the heart that is consecrated, and they all go teeming into the hearts of the hungry hearers, and thus the whole audience is bound to the speaker with close and sober minded attention from the first to the last word. Mr Tindor's sermon on "Our Homes," Sunday morning, was one that drove home a whole lot of good points and clinched them in the minds and hearts of every thoughtful hearer, along the line of protecting the home. Pity that every father and mother in Somerset did not hear it. Every parent would have been benefitted, and especially those who turn their children loose to graze at will upon whatever they may happen to discover, and also those who permit their children to pair off with any sort of human specimen as associates and go into mixed crowds or assemblies, or where "society" may ask them. Mr Tindor took the strong ground that whatever we have among us of good must come from keeping the home, pure from protecting the home.

Farm Product Statistics.

A supplementary issue of the Government Crop Reporter has been published to get to the public promptly the expert compilations of acreage, production and value of the principal farm crops, from which tables the following items are culled:

The corn crop, which is the most valuable one, required for its production 88,091,993 acres, and yielded on an average 25.5 bushels, aggregating 638,094, and vies with the tobacco crop at an average price of 42.5 cents, representing a total value of close to a billion dollars—$952,868,801.

The winter wheat acreage is placed at 32,510,510, yielding on an average 12.3 bushels, aggregating 399,867,250 bushels marketed at an average price of 71.6 cents, representing a total value of $286,242,849.

The spring wheat acreage is given as 16,954,457, yielding on an average 14 bushels, aggregating 237,362,398 bushels, having a value of $157,781,977 or 65.9 cents per bushel.

The acreage devoted to oats was 27,638,126, which with an average yield of 28.4 bushels, at an average price of 34.1 cents realized $267,661,665.

The barley crop, with 4,963,137 acres brought to the farmers $60,166,313.

The rye crop with an acreage of 1,960,894, yielded $15,993,871.

The buckwheat crop from 804,393 acres, raised entirely in the East and middle West, was marketed for $8,650,733.

Three and a quarter million acres devoted to flaxseed produced a crop valued at $22,291,557.

The Irish potato crop sold for $151,628,094, and vies with the tobacco crop with returning the greatest amount per acre of any of the principal crops. Although there were less than 3,000,000 acres devoted to it, the yield of 84.7 bushels per acre, at an average price of 61.4 cents, is equivalent to an average net realization of $52 per acre.

Tobacco yields, according to the figures given below, $53.46 per acre. The tobacco crop of 815,972,425 pounds, at an average price of 6.8 cents per pound, produced a revenue of $55,514,626. The average yield per acre from 1,027,735 acres was 786.3 pounds.

The hay crop, excepting corn alone is the greatest in value, the gross realization during the year on 61,305,940 tons being $556,376,880.

FROM EVERY SECTION.

World's Fair Exhibits Already Arranged For From 103 of the 119 Counties.

Since the Kentucky Exhibits Association has succeeded in raising the full amount—$100,000—for giving Kentucky representation at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, its entire efforts henceforth are to be directed towards the gathering of exhibits from every county in the State. It has arranged for displays from all but sixteen counties and it is evident that before the World's Fair opens on April 30 every county in the State will have representation. The Association is hoping that this representation will be adequate. It wants to give to every county space sufficient for an attractive display of its products and resources, believing that great good will result from such exhibits. The Association has committees at work in every county and urges citizens generally to come forward at once with any exhibits they may think worthy space at the exposition, turning them over either to the World's Fair Committee or sending them direct to the Kentucky Exhibit Association at Louisville. In addition to the exhibits to be made in the Kentucky Building, which structure is about completed, the Association has been allotted from 1,000 to 7,000 square feet in the main exhibit palaces in which to make creditable displays of Kentucky's products and resources. It behooves the citizens of our county to come forward with everything that would interest an exposition visitor. No time is to be lost, as all exhibits should be in Louisville not later than April 1st—the sooner the better.

CENTRAL RECORD.

LOUIS LANDRAM.
Entered at the Post Office in Lancaster, Ky., as Second-Class Mail Matter.
Lancaster, Ky., February 5, 1904

A bill has been introduced in the Kentucky Legislature to "prevent and punish the destruction of the United States flag." It is singular that people have to be forced to respect Old Glory. Fact of the matter is youngsters do not receive proper instruction as to the respect and honor they should have for the flag, many, possibly, not knowing its purpose. Each district school should be required to fly the colors, teachers and pupils to go through appropriate ceremonies each morning when the flag is hoisted and in evening when lowered. This would result in more good than learning the Chinese, Fijian and other needless languages, the pupils learning to love the flag of their country and have a higher regard for rulers, to say nothing of the more and better class of men who would shoulder a musket and respond to Uncle Sam's call for help in time of trouble.

Every Kentuckian rejoices that a new capitol is to be erected, but there is a general sigh of regret that it will not be built at Lexington, where three-fourths of the people want it. Had citizens of Lexington cut out "hoss" and politics for a spell and put up a good, stiff fight, the building would be erected in that city. "Polerticks" is alright in its place, and "hoss" is still better, but an overproduction of either will cause any man or city to lose out, as Lexington is doubtless beginning to realize.

There are fourteen applicants for the position of Pension Agent, made vacant by the death of Gen. Dan R. Collier. Among the number is Major Wm. H. Collier, the son of Gen. Collier. This being the case, it certainly looks bad for a lot of people to make a fight against the young man filling out his father's unexpired term.

One of the best bills introduced in the present Legislature is that by Mr. Alverson, of Lincoln, which provides that school teachers receive full pay while attending county institutes. No class of people work harder and receive poorer compensation than do the wielders of the peachtree switch.

The Earlinton Bee, Paul Moore's good paper, prints half a column urging husbands to kiss their wives. Must we infer that husbands, down that way, have been kissing others than their own meet?

If the "gun license" provided in the proposed new game law applies to the pistol carriers, and every coward who carries one is made to pay the fee, the state's till will soon be filled to overflowing.

BRYANTSVILLE.

Mr. Clint Moore has accepted a position at Charleston, West Va.

Mr. Mote Scott has bought a number of yearling cattle at 3 to 3 1/2c.

Patton & Dunn, of Bryantville, passed through here Wednesday with a drove of mules they purchased in Whitley and Bell counties.

Nearly Perforated His Life.

A runaway almost ending fatally, started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. But Becklen's Arnica Salve had no trouble to cure him. Equally good for Burns, Bruises, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c at McRoberts Drug Store.

THE NATION'S CAPITAL.

A man never knows how much work he can do, or how quickly he can accomplish a task until necessity forces him "into a corner" and he has to hustle. One dependent upon his daily labor, the sweat of his brow, has no time to gallop all over the country "sight-seeing," or killing time gossiping with acquaintances. This being our humble condition, we did, in Washington last week, what a man of means would have taken up a week in accomplishing. Arriving in the capital at 8 o'clock, a. m., we visited and talked with exactly twenty-two men, conferred for two hours with an attorney, visited the post office department and registered a kick about several bundles of The Record being lost by mail clerks, stopped in the Treasury department to pay our respects to Mr. Yerkes, Harry Giovanoli, Millard West and others, put in an hour in each "wing" of the Capitol, refused seventy-five or eighty drinks and was ready to start home at six o'clock the same evening.

Having on former occasions inflicted The Record readers with write-ups of Washington, its many places of interest, etc., the dose will not be repeated now, but we take advantage of the opportunity to say that if you ever have occasion to visit the Capital by all means go over the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, which company runs two superb daily trains each way.

On these you find comfort, luxury and the most beautiful scenery in America. The trains are solidly vestibuled from end to end, and carry dining cars which furnish, at very reasonable rates, all the substantial and delicacies of the season. The roadbed is so smooth that you sleep with as much ease and comfort as when attending a temperance lecture, or home-talent show. The meals are excellent, and our advice is to fill up well before leaving these diners, for, when you go up against Washington fare, may heaven help you. Most all the hotels are run on European plan, and, to get any kind of "assortment," you are brought enough to feed an ordinary family. Such a thing as warm bread is unknown in Washington. All they have is baker's bread, as cold as a step-parent's heart, and, after eating a "take" of it, one feels as if he had swallowed a toy balloon. At one hashery we saw "corn cakes" on bill of fare, and ordered some. They looked o. k., but after repeated efforts to cut them, we used one to bind up a finger mashed on the sleeping car, and brought the other home, where it was used to patch our pants. At another cafe, we ordered rolls. They came in as cold as a money-lover's handshake and as hard as a delinquent subscriber's nerve. We began to gnaw, the sound resembling the washerwoman's scrubbing on the washboard. A near-sighted man across the table thought we were playing a french harp, and asked us to please play "Home, Sweet Home?" Every other door on Pennsylvania Avenue is a cafe, the intervening property being a bar room. We concluded the saloons were there for convenience of those who go up against Washington grub, for if it will not drive a man to drink, nothing will.

Senator McCreary was found at his post of duty, hard at work. No man stands higher in the estimation of his colleagues, nor is there one who takes more pains looking after the interests of his constituents. Senator McCreary is looked upon as one of the most conservative members of the Senate, and enjoys the friendship and respect of all of both parties. Representative Gilbert had been called to Kentucky on urgent business, but was expected back that night. Representative Jno S. Khea, who has many friends and admirers in this section, was looking well and asked to be remembered to all his acquaintances. We hadn't time to see Rev. R. B. West, as he was at the Government Printing Office, where he is auditor, a position of great responsibility.

About the busiest man in Washington is the Hon. Jno. W. Yerkes, Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Every minute of his time is valuable, but he always stops for a hearty handshake and some pleasant remarks with all callers, his gentlemanly bearing and good breeding never allowing him to become "straight-laced" or in the least offensive to one of the hundreds of callers who pull and haul at him every minute of the day. The old saying, "A gentleman will act the gentleman under all circumstances," certainly holds true in his case.

We spent a few minutes in the Press Gallery of the Senate and watched the newspaper boys work. At that time, a lively debate was on as to President sending to the Senate certain correspondence regarding the Panama negotiations, and some lively tilts were had by democrats and republicans. It was amusing to watch the correspondents, for when a democrat was speaking about half the correspondents would quit writing, while the rest took down every word. Then a republican would take the floor, and the other half of the scribes would begin to work, showing the one-sided manner in which news is sent out. Each newspaper man was getting his end of it, just what the general public wants, however "our side" of any question, a desire which is not commendable, we think.

One of the most popular employees in the departments is clever Harry Giovanoli, private secretary to Commissioner Jno W. Yerkes. Everybody knows Harry, and we venture no man has more friends in Washington. Always polite, in a good humor, as witty as an Irishman and as sharp as a tack he has won a most enviable position with the public and those having business in his department. The newspaper men are especially fond of him, and he has had several very flattering offers from Eastern papers.

Had the Washington train reached Winchester on time, we would have been in Lancaster at 8:20 Friday night, but we missed it by about two car-lengths, and had to go around by Lexington, Dallas, Tex., Portland, Maine, Jacksonville, Fla., and a few other equally as far-away points to get to Lancaster. That Lancaster is the best place in the world, all readily agree, and better say so, but when you have to come here by rail, may heaven pity you. From Winchester to Lexington, Lexington to Junction City, Junction City to Stanford, Stanford to Lancaster, a distance of about seventy-five miles to make thirty-five, is indeed a hardship on a suffering public, but that is what you must do, nine times in ten when you leave home.

Millard West has a good job, and is quite popular in a wide circle of friends. His clever manner has won the admiration of all who know him, and no one stands higher with the superior officers. Millard does the society act and it is said that on Sundays he heats the old town so hot that fires are unnecessary. We tried to find time to call on Obe Pearce, a Lancaster boy now in the army and holding one of the chief clerkships in the War Department.

If any of our readers think a Representative or Senator can get business through Congress without a hard struggle, they are sadly mistaken. It is almost impossible to get anything done, as when a measure is brought up in the House, it is tacitly understood there will be opposition in the Senate, and vice versa. Some people seem to think the Senator or Representative can get most any old thing done, but this is a mistake. They are all perfectly willing to do their part, but there is a wheel in a wheel in every blooming thing in Washington, and to succeed you must be a hustler.

Every person who can should visit the Capital, as it gives one an education which cannot be obtained elsewhere, that is you see the workings of the government of your country, its chief law-makers, representative people from all important countries, some of the handsomest buildings money can erect, and, if not on a business rush, can spend a week or ten days more profitably than in any city on the Western Continent. A man able to go and who does not go, is making a great mistake.

Clarence Woods, one of our most highly-beloved friends, was missed in our rush to get through. He is assistant secretary to Senator McCreary, and his Kentucky friends will be delighted to know he is getting on nicely.

Misses Edith Montgomery of Bryantville and Lucille and brother, Mr. White Marsee were guests of Thos. Turner and family Sunday.

What Do You Think of This One?
A new dead beat racket is being worked. A stranger hits a town, picks out the wealthiest and largest church and attends worship Sunday morning. Just as the benediction is finished the stranger has a fit, tumbles over, froths at the mouth and has a good hard one; of course he receives attention. On the inside of his coat is found a card which notifies the charitable friends that in case he is found dead or dies in a fit, to send the body to a certain city, usually several hundred miles away. Presently the subject recovers sufficiently to talk and tell his story about his fits becoming more frequent and that he is trying to get home before he dies, but has spent all his money. It will require about $20 to get there. A collection is started and usually more than that amount is raised. He goes his way and gets ready to have a fit the next Sunday in some other town.

Another Case of Rheumatism Cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm.

The efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the relief of rheumatism is being demonstrated daily. Parker Triplett, of Grigsby, Va., says that Chamberlain's Pain Balm gave him permanent relief from rheumatism in the back when everything else failed, and he would not be without it. A Cure for Eczema.

My baby had Eczema so bad that its head was a solid mass of scabs, and its hair all came out. I tried many remedies but none seemed to do any permanent good until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The Eczema is cured the scabs are gone and the little one's scalp is perfectly clean and healthy and its hair is growing beautifully again. I cannot give too much praise to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.—Frank Farmer, Buft City, Ky. In buying Witch Hazel Salve look out for counterfeits. DeWitt's is the original and the only one containing pure Witch Hazel. The name E. C. DeWitt & Co. is on every box. Sold by F. Frisbie. 1m

Gen. Daniel Ray Collier.

Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge writes as follows, in the Lexington Herald: On Friday, in the city of New York, Bishop Dudley died of heart disease; on Saturday in Louisville, General Dan Collier died of heart disease; Bishop Dudley happened at the moment of the attack to be in company of his wife and loved ones; General Collier was alone, lying on a couch at the Sanitarium of a friend, and died without struggle or sound. There was very slight difference in age between these gentlemen, Bishop Dudley being past sixty-six and General Collier perhaps in his sixty-fifth year. Each had lived earnest, sincere, brave, manly lives and won the respect and love of those with whom each had come in personal contact.

General Collier had early entered the Federal Army and distinguished himself for heroism on the battlefield and faithful, devoted service, and had won rank and reputation, coming out of the war with a commission of Colonel and the higher commission of the love and admiration of his men and the confidence of his brother officers. He was a Kentuckian born of Kentucky stock, reared as a farmer's boy and filling with credit the station in life to which his family and he belonged.

As Adjutant and Inspector General of the State of Kentucky under its duly elected and legally inaugurated Governor in the midst of most troublous times and confronted with unprecedented difficulties, he had in his keeping the peace of the Commonwealth. The State was indeed most fortunate that she had two such sons as Dan Collier and John Castleman; more fortunate in that such crisis these sons filled the respective positions to which they had been appointed. They had been most gallant soldiers, and though soldiers on opposite sides they knew of the courage, skill and patriotism of each other; each was so thoroughly courageous that he knew his courage and daring would not be doubted by the other, and each judged the other to be like unto himself—honest, sincere, loving the right and loving Kentucky, and intensely anxious to avoid bloodshed and willing to take any personal responsibility to prevent it. Cool, self composed, clear-headed, honorable, these two gentlemen and soldiers prevented any act of violence which might have precipitated a terrific contest. Others may be blamed for their part in that lamentable and in some respects disgraceful episode in our history; but to these two Kentuckians only praise and admiration are due.

The whole life of Gen. Collier was honorable, brave, earnest, kindly; but the climax and culmination of that life were in those days of trial and perplexity. We desired this morning merely to put on record some of the impressions made on us by these two gallant and dutiful men and to suggest that with many different gifts and different training, yet the fundamental, basic qualities of these two Kentuckians were identical—courage, devotion to duty, sincerity, power over men, and ceaseless labor; a broad and generous kindness, a constant and manly charity and an unflinching loyalty.

Evening Post:—Gen. Collier, formerly Adjutant General of Kentucky, died suddenly of heart disease Saturday, and in his death the State has lost a good citizen.

Gen. Collier was a man of firm convictions, and this faith made him respect the conviction of others. He was called at a critical time in the history of the State to act a most conspicuous part, and he so carried himself as to command the confidence even of his most bitter and passionate opponents.

Personally, Gen. Collier won the regard of all men with whom he came in contact, not by what are called the genial traits of character, but by his sincerity, his directness and singleness of purpose, and because he was not afraid. He cared little for popularity and nothing at all for power, but he was anxious always to do his duty.

His death came suddenly, as so often it comes to a soldier, and like a soldier, he was ready. Living he had the respect of the people and the love of his friends, and dying he awakens sorrow that is widespread and sincere.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done quickly. RHEUMATISM.

It used to be thought that rheumatism was a disease of the bones. Now we know that it is a disease of the blood. If rheumatism is to be cured it must be cured through the blood.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures rheumatism, because it purifies the blood from clogging and corrupting substances. It removes the cause of disease. Its effects are the same when the impure blood causes pimply eruptions, boils, sores, etc. By its perfect purification of the blood "Golden Medical Discovery" removes the cause of disease, and gives the smooth clear skin which belongs with good health.

"I cannot praise your medicine too highly," writes Mr. James E. Cramp-ton, of Sharpsburg, Washington Co., Md. "I was in business in Baltimore and had rheumatism for three months couldn't walk at all. I tried the best doctors I could get but they did me no good. I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it cured me sound."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Hedge fences can be made to look much neater in appearance when all rubbish remnants and old trimmings are cleaned away. They will be ready to come out in spring with greater beauty than before.

You can not expect very large profits from an orchard if you let the cattle roam among the trees to prune and rub and bluish them as they please. Pigs and very young calves may be allowed.

A small piece of cheese and an electric wire form one of the latest rat traps. The cheese is fixed to the wire, and the instant the rat touches the cheese it completes an electric circuit and is killed at once.

The tobacco growers of Webster county, have taken steps to abandon the crop of 1904 in order to checkmate the trust.

Mrs Lewis Hope, near Hope, Bartholomew county, Indiana, made 2,555 pounds of butter in 1903 from 8 cows, and sold it for $738.75. This was $92.35 for each cow. Not many cows do better than this.

If turkeys have unlimited range they get plenty of other seed and will do well on corn alone as a home feed, but laying hens should have a change of feed, for they will get too fat on corn alone.

The large packing houses of Chicago are said to have purchased a million acres of land in Florida and Alabama, where they will establish a mammoth cattle feeding ground. Factories for the manufacture of starch and other corn products are also projected.

A Missouri farmer recently discovered that bees has been using space between storing honey. They had used the place for years, and the honey taken out amounted to about 200 pounds. Why would not the gable of the attic be a first class place for bee hives?

If Uncle Sam is as liberal with other papers as he is with us he is wasting a big lot of the people's money, and we feel it our duty to tell him so. He sends us three copies of the Crop Reporter, for example and we cannot possibly use but one and but little of that.

The Yearbook of Agriculture gives the number of milk cows in the State of Kentucky as 208,570 with an average price of $20.69 per head, and a total value of $9,968,833. At four dollars per head for inspection and tuberculosis test, this would yield a magnificent revenue and would make the State a veterinary paradise, saying nothing of the elegant feeling produced by the handling of the indemnity fund. Assuming 25 per cent of all cows tuberculous, the little I. F. would amount to two million dollars.

The prospect of war between Russia and Japan has caused an upward movement in the grain and provision markets, and should there be a war, this upward movement would be more decided, especially in flour, meats, etc.

The famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers not only cleanse the system but they strengthen the action of the liver and rebuild the tissues supporting that organ. Little Early Risers are easy to act, they never gripe and yet they are absolutely certain to produce results that are satisfactory in all cases. Sold by F. P. Frisbie.

CURES CATARRH.

"Bygone the Most Wonderful Cure for Catarrh Ever Discovered," Says H. E. McRoberts.

Do not try to cure catarrh by taking drugs into the stomach; it cannot be cured in that manner. The only way in which this too common disease can be cured is through a direct application that will kill the bacilli of catarrh and prevent their growth.

Hymecol is the only known method of treatment that accomplishes this. It is the simplest most pleasant, and the only absolute cure for catarrh that has ever been discovered.

Thousands of unsolicited testimonials have been received from the most prominent men and women in the country who have been cured by this remarkable remedy. Ministers, bankers, lawyers, even eminent physicians have given strong testimonials as to the remarkable powers of Hymecol to cure catarrh.

The complete Hymecol outfit costs but $1.00, consisting of an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hymecol to last several weeks. This will effect a cure in ordinary case of catarrh, longer use may be necessary, and then extra bottles of Hymecol can be obtained for 50c. It is not alone the best (it might be called the only) method of curing catarrh, but it is also the most economical.

R. E. McRoberts had so much confidence in the power of Hymecol to cure catarrh, that he will for a limited time, sell this medicine under his personal guarantee to refund the money if the purchasers can say that it did not help them.
